New Exhibits Open at the Carlson Gallery

"Portraits in Process," an avant-garde photographic art show by area artist, Thomas Mezzanotte, opened with a reception at the Carlson Gallery on Wednesday, November 30.

The show, which will feature tightly cropped traditional silver gelatin prints as well as alternative hand-coated works, will run through December 23. Mezzanotte, a University of Bridgeport Art major, has had three one-man shows, the last one at the corporate headquarters of Young & Rubicam on Madison Avenue in New York City. He is fast becoming known for the numerous unconventional techniques he brings to standard photographic processes, including cyanotype, gum bichromate and palladium, as well as photo silk screen and photo etching.

In a New York Times review, Mezzanotte was described as an "experimental photographer (who) earns that appellation because of his steadfast avoidance of a camera. Rather, his negatives come from having his models lie on grass that has been smoked by a kerosene lantern or by putting their faces on a copying machine. The results, not unexpectedly, look like mezzotints...and etchings."

"The works in this show will range from surprising to enlightening to viewers," says Mezzanotte. "The images are very much a part of the new generation of photo art typified by the work of Joel Peter Witkin, David Hockney and the Stam twins."

Mezzanotte has been involved in photographic image-making for 20 years, focusing on alternative processes for the last six years.

Concurrent with "Portraits in Process" is "Songs to the Supreme Goddess as the Void," an exhibition of paintings by Terry Rumble. These large scale pieces, inspired by an ancient Tantric sculpture, are mixed media works comprised of tar paper, house paint, dry pigments and spray paint. "I engaged the paper in a many layered process. Painting, rubbing, piercing, repainting, scratching and cutting, repetitively and rhythmically. I often experienced the paper as another skin, a border crossed where ideas about existence became acts of existence," says Rumble.

The Carlson Gallery is open Tuesday through Saturday, 11 am - 5pm. For more information, call 576-4436.

Security Committee Makes New Recommendations

Upon meeting with the Security Committee on Friday, November 11, 1988, the committee reviewed and debated policies regarding entry into a residence hall and fining procedures to be put into effect for individuals disobeying dorm policy procedure. The following recommendations were suggested to be put into effect:

1. All visitors, both UB and non-UB individuals, must leave their identification card (either UB ID or photo license ID) at the desk with the security guard. A safety lock box with a key is to be provided at the desk that can be bolted down to the desk. This safety lock box will hold all ID's in alphabetical order and the individual is to pick up his/her ID upon signing out when leaving the building. This will assure that all individuals entering a residence hall will sign out and will be accounted for.

2. The process of signing a guest into a residence hall will remain the same as is currently in effect. All hosts of a guest must sign their guests in after a guest has signed in.

3. Individuals not cooperating with the security guards enforcing dorm entrance policies will be disciplined by fines, if not expulsion. An immediate fine of $25 for first time offenders, $50 for second time offenders, and expulsion from the dorm for third time offenders. NOTE: These fines will go into effect pending the assistance of RHA and Dorm Governing Boards. Such fines will be given out in the following manners:

A. For UB students of a residence hall entering or leaving that dorm and giving security a difficult time, he/she will be written up and fined $25 for their first offense, $50 for their second, and permanently removed from their residence hall for a third time offense.

B. For non-residents of a hall not obeying dorm policy, they will not be allowed entry into that residence hall upon their first offense. If they do not obey dorm policy again, they will no longer be permitted entry into that residence hall again. NOTE: If that non-resident is a UB student, he/she will be fined in the same manner that a resident of that hall would be fined.

C. For both UB and non-UB guests: once a guest is signed into a residence hall by a host, the host takes it upon himself/herself the responsibility for their guests actions and will be fined in the manner listed above if an incident should occur.

4. All cameras in the residence hall lobbies are to be adjusted in such a way so that the faces of all individuals entering that resident hall can be seen and recorded on video so that identification of that person can be made if necessary.

5. Security guards sitting dorm security are to record the time of all incidents occurring so that individuals entering a hall who do not abide by dorm policy can be identified on the cameras and disciplinary action can then be taken.

Opinion Ode To Security

by David Vermeire

It's a late Sunday night, and all through the dorm, not even the doorman. I opened the door. It let out a creak. I tiptoed across, just call me a sneak. Who is this man we pay to catch "Z's"? Next time a rapist or maybe some thieves.

That was just a quick poem I whipped up for the holidays. Call it my "Ode to Security". Amazed by the alertness of our guards I feel compelled to make a statement. This man is making between $7 and $14 an hour for sleeping. I can do that. Now I realize that he's older and has a lot more experience sleeping than I do. That's why I, out of the kindness of my heart, will sleep an average of five hours a night and only ask $5.50 an hour. I repeat, only $5.50 an hour, but you must act now! I can just see this guys resume and interview for the job . . . "hmmm, it says here you slept through Vietnam, very impressive."

If we all want a safe campus we all have to cooperate. If you notice a guard snoozing, missing, etc. call security, and if they can't help they will tell you who can. If that fails, I recommend a cast iron fry pan. One that can wake someone up and put them to sleep at the same.

I feel about as safe as a subway jogging through Cambodia. We would call the Keystone cops to protect us. That's about as effective as using Saran Wrap for a con-

dom. The school is spending money (well into six figures) on security measures. Isn't there a security company out there that has reliable people? I'm tired of referring to security as "insecurity". Now I realize that this job is strenuous, taking vast amounts of energy to hold those chairs to the ground. Maybe we could get them all out to Marina Circle at 6:00 every morning to do calisthenics. If nothing else they would be more fit.

What I thought was quite interesting was after finding our hero sleeping I quickly ran up to my room before leaving again. On my way out I decided to wake him (I've found sudden, loud noises to be very successful). He jumped up and asked to see my ID - ON MY WAY OUT! Does this guy put his shoes on before his socks? Sorry to bring up condoms again, but he probably puts one on after sex. This isn't good!

This sounds like a good time to introduce one other small problem I've found. I'm not quite sure whether or not some of our guards are past puberty or not. I'm talking about the phone syndrome. A quick call to someone is fine, but long discussions on trivial matters has got to go. This interferes with work since pay phones are not right at the security desk.

I don't wish to imply that all of the guards are not doing their job. I've heard a couple of them are rather good and I'd like to commend you if you are one of them. If you aren't, shape up or ship out. If you work really hard just maybe you'll win Employee of the Month. Prizes like keeping your job through next semester or an all-expense paid trip to work in your favorite dorm are probably guaranteed.

Advisor Dear CAS

Dear CAS:

I was in the Scribe meeting when it was suggested that this column be called "Yo Bula!" Tell me, why wasn't this used instead of "Dear CAS"? Signed, "Just Wondering?"

Dear "Just Wondering?":

You are right: "Yo Bula!" was the original name for this column. At the same time when the name was suggested, the writer was asked to come up with other options to attract students' attention and confidence. This is why we did not use it; we felt it would make students feel confident about asking their peers for advice. In all honesty, would you write your most sensitive and secretive concerns to a "Bula"? Also, "Dear CAS" clearly represents a genuine concern to hear what students have to say, and as the acronym states, the Scribe is Concerned About Students (CAS). Thank you for writing. We hope to hear from you again.

Dear CAS:

I am from a family of Alpha men. My dad and grandad were Alpha men, and now they expect me to pledge "A Phi A". They both think that it's a supreme fraternity for Black men, and that it would be good for the family. I, however, can't even decide what my major is. I'm only a freshman. How do I tell my dad that "A Phi A" might not be for me but maybe another fraternity? Signed, Morally Depressed

Dear Morally Depressed:

I understand how you feel. I, too, am grappling with a decision to pledge or not to pledge. Before you tell your dad that you might not want to pledge—which I think you should—discover your own identity of which you can be most proud. Keep in mind that fraternities offer discipline, leadership, and most of all, brotherhood. But this means nothing unless you have identified your goals in life, your definition of discipline, leadership, and brotherhood.

Dear CAS:

I am a freshman here at UB. Although I have great aspirations to become a campus socialite, I have a few minor problems: guys, academics, sororities, etc. What should I tackle first in becoming a social queen? Signed, Help Me, Baby!

Dear Help Me, Baby!:

Guess what? You can have it all! Really. Here's what you do: join the sorority of your choice that focuses on academics and have parties with "frat" brothers. You pledge, learn, and get a man. Let me know what happens.

Dear CAS:

I think that this column is a good idea. I think many students will benefit from this. How long will it last? Signed, HOPE!

Dear HOPE!:

This column will continue as long as students ask for advice and the leadership of the Scribe allows it.

Dear CAS:

I borrowed some money from a person who is not a dear or best friend but just a friend. This person thinks that someone stole the money. I fear that this person will hate me if I tell the truth. I fear that this person will hate me if I lie. What should I do? Signed, Not A Thief!!

Dear Not A Thief!:

Tell your friend or associate that you borrowed the money for whatever reasons. If you are forgiven, do something nice. If you are not forgiven, you will at least have a clear conscience. Oh, by the way, pay back the money you borrowed. There's an old saying: "honesty is the best policy."

Medical Insider High Level Of Aids Virus Infection Found On College Campuses

by Ted J. Broussard, Counseling Services

A recent article in USA Today reported that preliminary findings in a study done of 20 U.S. college campuses, shows that nearly 1 in 300 college students is infected with HIV, the virus that causes AIDS.

These numbers are higher than expected when the study began and is comparable to the rates found in prisons. Statistics show a rate of 4 per 1,000 prisoners are infected with HIV while these early findings show 3 per 1,000 college students are infected.

When the study has been completed, 20,000 blood samples from college students across the U.S. will have been randomly chosen and tested to give an idea of how widespread the infection level is in this population. The results discussed in USA Today's article are based on 5,000 samples thus far.

As shocking as these results are, the need for education, information and behavior change is clearly indicated. College students who choose to be sexually active need to know how to prevent transmission of HIV and other sexually transmitted diseases and need to know how to talk about sexual behaviors with their partners.

The U.B. AIDS Education Committee is ready and willing to help the University community address these needs. For assistance or further information, contact the Counseling Services office at 576-4454. Also available is the Greater Bridgeport AIDS Project Hotline at 336-AIDS and the Bridgeport Health Department at 576-7680.

Just For The Health Of It Chlamydia Facts

Chlamydia is a sexually transmitted infection. The urethra, or urinary tube, is the primary site of infection in males. Symptoms include a gradual onset of mucus-like discharge from the penis which progresses from a watery or milky appearance to a much thicker consistency. Pain or a burning sensation upon urination may also be present. Occasionally these symptoms are so mild that they go unnoticed. Approximately 10% of men display clinical symptoms. An untreated infection may spread to the prostate gland, epididymis, and testicles causing eventual sterility.

Initial symptoms in females may include a heavier than normal vaginal discharge (often yellow in color), pain or burning during urination, a frequent urge to urinate, or painful intercourse. Chlamydia settles in the cervix during the first weeks following infection. A major complication is Pelvic Inflammatory Disease (PID). Symptoms of PID are evidenced by longer and/or heavier periods, increased cramping during menstruation, abnormal discharge, pain in the lower abdomen, weakness and fatigue, fever, nausea and vomiting, and pain during intercourse. Untreated infection can cause long term problems such as infertility. Because chlamydia settles in the internal female organs, up to 80% of women display no initial symptoms.

Testing for chlamydia is quick and painless. If you or your partner have any of the above symptoms, if you have changed sex partners, or if you are sexually active with more than one partner, see the doctor at the Health Center. Antibiotics can cure chlamydia if it is detected in its early stages. Treatment provided by the Health Center is confidential and in no way affects your college standing.

There are several steps you can take to avoid infection:

1. Use condoms — condoms provide very good protection when they are put on before penetration and removed before erection diminishes.

2. Know your partner — question potential sex partners about infection. Avoid sexual contact with anyone who has an infection or who is undergoing treatment.

3. Limit your partners — having multiple sex partners greatly increases your chance of infection.

4. Use diaphragms — diaphragms used with spermicidal jellies or creams provide some protection against chlamydia. Diaphragms are available by prescription only. This service is also provided by the Health Center.

5. Seek treatment early — make an appointment for testing if you consider yourself or your partner to be at risk. If chlamydia is diagnosed, avoid sexual activity until treatment is completed. Encourage your partner to seek treatment.

Overseas Development Network Seeks Concerned Individuals For Bike-Aid '89 To Raise Funds For Global Hunger And Poverty

This coming summer, the Overseas Development Network (OND) will be sponsoring its fourth annual cross-country hunger awareness bike-a-thon, Bike Aid 1989, to raise awareness and funds for self-help development projects overseas and in the United States.

In the past three years, 287 cyclists have crossed the country with Bike-Aid, raising public awareness of the problems of world hunger and poverty as well as a cumulative total of $390,000. This past summer, 48 cyclists with Bike Aid '88 completed the 3,600 mile journey when they arrived in Washington, D.C. on August 18.

For 1989, OND seeks individuals who are concerned with the various issues connected to world hunger and poverty and who are willing to discuss them with America. Aside from raising a projected total of $300,000 participants are expected to be involved in various events and presentations across the country to bring attention to the plight of the poor and hungry at home and around the world, and to encourage and provide opportunities for public action toward solving these problems.

Bike Aid '89 will begin in mid-June from West coast cities - Seattle, Portland, San Francisco, and Los Angeles. A shorter ride will originate from Austin, Texas beginning mid-July. The ride will be completed in mid-August when cyclists from five routes converge in Washington, D.C.

People of all ages and backgrounds are encouraged to apply. The Overseas Development Network is a national student organization dedicated to addressing the fundamental issues of global poverty and injustice through educational programs, volunteer work, and partnerships with grassroots projects worldwide.

Brass Ring Offers Christmas Concert

Brass Ring, a Connecticut-based ensemble, will present a special evening of Christmas music Dec. 10 at 8 p.m. in the Recital Hall of the Bernhard Center. Tickets are $10 and $6. Call 576-4399 for tickets.

The program will include The Musik for Royal Fireworks by George Frederic Handel; a traditional holiday piece, Christmas Angels; A Fantasy About Purcell's "Fantasia Upon One Note" by Elliott Carter; and many other Christmas classics arranged for the ensemble.

Consisting of two trumpets, horn, trombone and tuba, the Brass Ring is widely considered one of the most innovative chamber music ensembles to appear on the musical scene in the last 30 years. Founded in 1981, Brass Ring is at home performing all types of music, from flourishes of the Renaissance to intricate 20th century chamber music.

In addition to giving formal concerts, Brass Ring also performs in non-traditional settings, offering concerts for the elderly and the handicapped, as well as musical programs of Americana by some of the country's most popular composers.

Since its founding, Brass Ring has toured throughout the United States while remaining committed to a strong Connecticut base. The quintet has performed for President-elect George Bush, has been quintet-in-residence at the Norfolk Chamber Music Festival, was a finalist in the Walter Naumberg International Chamber Music Competition, and has performed in colleges and universities around the country.

Brass Ring released their first album on the Crystal label.

An informal Christmas party will follow the December 10 performance and will be held in the Band Room of the Bernhard Center. The UB community is invited free.

Music for Fun &amp; Frolic Coming to Mertens

"Music for Fun and Frolic Part II" will be offered on Thursday, Dec. 8 at 8 p.m. in the Mertens Theater of the Bernhard Center.

The UB Concert Band, under the direction of Music Dept. professor, Dr. Terrence Greenawalt, will present the program, which will feature musical selections of an unusual or humorous nature.

Highlights will include "The Grand, Grand Overture for Three Vacuum Cleaners, Floor Polisher and Concert Band, a piece which features four distinguished music department alumni; and the "Concerto for Spoons, Knives, Forks and Soup Ladle" which will spotlight members of the UB faculty and staff. Auditions are still in progress for these monumentally, deliciously difficult solo parts.

The campus still reeling from the first concert of "Music for Fun and Frolic" which starred Provost Eigel, and Deans Scroggin and Sauerwein in "The Concerto Gross for Three Kazoos." One reviewer said the program set the standard of instrumental performance back at least 200 years.

The Dec. 8 concert will be free to all and will include works by P.D.Q. Bach and Spike Jones' arrangement of the "William Tell Overture."

Neal-Truly Astonishing

by Gabe Sasso

For weeks before his arrival I was told by friends and strangers alike of the Astonishing Neal. People who had seen last years show told me that going to see Neal was a must. I decided to go even as I wondered if all these people had been hypnotized to go see Neal again.

I must admit I entered the student center quite skeptical. ESP, hypnotism, bending nails with the mind, frankly it sounded like the stuff of early morning movies. I found my seat and waited. Neal entered the room and began his show. The first portion of the show was when he gave out nails to several people and had them hold them while concentrating on bending them. And soon before the audiences eyes nails bent. A good trick but I was still not impressed. After this he took several solid gold rings and linked them together. That was pretty impressive but I still needed more to reassure me of this mans prowess.

Next came the ESP portion of the show. He had each member of the audience write things about themselves on a piece of paper. All of these pieces of paper were collected. Neal then proceeded (blind-folded) to pull papers out one at a time, crumple them up in his hand and read them with his mind. He found out several interesting things about a few students but none quite as interesting as one in particular. He found out that one U.B. student had trouble several years ago putting something on and it wasn't clothing. Suffice it to say that this student was quite shocked and astonished to discover that Neal could find such things out. I discussed this situation with the student in question and he assured me that it was true and that he had not talked to Neal before the show. That was the point in the show that I began to believe Neal.

Neal now moved out of this portion and took a ten minute intermission. He came back and began the hypnotism portion of the show. He proceeded to invite anyone who wanted to be hypnotized up on stage. A large group of people went up and that group slowly shrunk as Neal weeded out those who were faking or could not be hypnotized. Neal then had each of the people that were under his spell do different odd things. He had some run around while another girl had her foot stuck in a magic pile of glue etc... Then he told them that they each had a pet in front of them. One had a mouse several had cows and there were other assorted animals. Neal then told them that the animals were running away from them and then he had then animals running towards them. Pandemonium was the key word as people ran all around knocking things over.

But the best was yet to come. He told one victim that he could only speak a Martian tongue and he told another that he was the translator. Neal then had them talk in Martian as he asked all sorts of odd questions about life and reproduction on this persons planet. This in my opinion was the highlight of the show. He closed by giving the remaining participants gifts of the mind.

All in all Neal put on a great show and yes I'd go see him again (Hmm maybe he hypnotized me to say that!!)

WPKN Makes Clean Sweep... Again

WPKN, the UB campus radio station located at 89.5 on the FM dial, has once again swept the Associated Press annual statewide awards in the non-commercial radio category.

The station, which has consistently come up a big winner in the past five years, took plaques in the following areas:

Best Newscast. Awarded to Bob Gottlieb, who has captured the award four years out of five with prize-winning production and stories about world events.

Best Feature. Awarded to Scott Harris, producer, Elaine Osowski, narrator of a documentary produced for the first anniversary of Benjamin Linder's death. Linder was an activist in Nicaragua who was killed in 1986. Harris has scooped the award for five years in a row.

Best Sports Play-By-Play. Awarded to John Kovach, whose co-broadcaster is Janine DeLise. WPKN has taken this award for the last three years for excellence in broadcasting Purple Knights basketball games on WPKN.

Harry Minot, manager of WPKN, said he is "delighted" that the station did so well again this year in the eyes of the Associated Press competition judges, seasoned professionals in their own rights involved in reporting news all over the world.

In other developments on the radio front at UB, WPKN's sister operation, WPKN-AM serving the dormitories, has just completed a change to closed-circuit FM and, to avoid confusion, is now being called WRUB.

The signal quality in the dorms is now far better than it was in the old AM system, according to Minot, and on-campus listenership has increased markedly.

Since WRUB is a closed system that does not require a license from the Federal Communications Commission (FCC), it is free to act as a commercial radio laboratory and specializes in features and music specifically targeted at the resident population.

WPKN, established in its present format in 1963, recently celebrated its 25th anniversary with a bash at the nearby Merry Widow. According to Minot, more than 150 people attended the celebration, with some individuals coming from as far away as California to be a part of the fun.

One "old-timer", Bob Stern, arrived with his wife, the former Vivien Unger, another one of WPKN's earliest staff members.

Before the evening was through, Stern found himself behind the control boards in the WPKN studio, "jabbering away just like the good old days," says Minot.

The favorite topic among the party-goers, of course, was the history of WPKN, which began as UB's on-campus station in 1961, before gaining access to the regular airwaves in 1963. At that time, the station was housed in the now non-existent Alumni Building formerly located behind Carstensen Hall.

WPKN, with studios on the second floor of the Student Center, now reaches an estimated 50-80,000 listeners with its eclectic programming, which includes programs in jazz, R & B, rock, Latin, classical, and many other formats, as well as special programming and interviews with guests.

The station can be heard all over Connecticut, in upper state New York, South Central Massachusetts, and all over Long Island. According to Minot, the station boasts an especially large listenership in the New Haven area.

IBM Computers Offers Discount Packages To UB

The University has successfully negotiated with IBM Computers Corp. the purchase of remarkable personal computers at significant discounts to the UB community.

Available are the IBM Personal System/2 Models 50, 60, and 25, which include 640KB of memory and integrated color graphics support. UB is making this offering available as a service to the college community and will not receive remuneration for its services.

Although the University is not urging persons to acquire these products, it is accommodating the requests of the community.

Eligible individuals must agree to certain conditions in these resale transactions:

1. Purchasers will be eligible to acquire only one machine.
2. Purchasers will not resell the machine for a minimum of twelve months after the date of purchase.

3. In addition to the price, the end user will be charged delivery location taxes.

Orders will be placed with an authorized IBM personal computer dealer who has been approved to participate as a provider of delivery and support services for faculty, staff and students.

For information on eligibility, product selection, purchase agreement and delivery locations, contact Gus Seaman, the University IBM Education Product Coordinator, 576-4496.

HERE'S ONE COLLEGE MEMORY WE'LL HELP YOU FORGET.

If you're like a lot of people, your longest-lasting memory of college is the student loan you're still paying back. The Army has a solution, though: qualify, sign up with us, and we'll sign off on your loan.

Each year you serve as a soldier, the Army will reduce your college debt by 1/3 or $1,500, whichever amount is greater. So after serving just 3 years, your government loan could be completely paid off.

You're eligible for this program if you have a National Direct Student Loan, or a Guaranteed Student Loan, or a Federally Insured Student Loan made after October 1, 1975. The loan must not be in default.

Get a clean slate, by erasing your college debt. Take advantage of the Army's Loan Repayment Program. Your local Recruiter can tell you if you qualify.

Students Urged To Enter Contest To Win A Trip...To Hawaii

Santa Cruz, Ca. — The American Poetry Association is sponsoring a poetry contest; winners will take a trip to the wonderful sandy beaches of Hawaii.

A trip to Hawaii for two is the new Grand Prize in the American Poetry Association's latest poetry contest. There is also $1000 for first prize. In all, 152 poets will win $11,000 worth of prizes. There is no fee to enter.

"Students have been winners in all our contests," said Robert Nelson, the publisher for the Association. "So I urge students to enter now. Later they may be too busy with exams," he adds.

Poets may submit up to five poems, no more than twenty lines each, with name and address on each page.

Poems are judged on originality and sincerity. Every poem is also considered for publication.

In the last six years the American Poetry Association has sponsored 27 contests and awarded $101,000 to 2,700 winning poets.

Poems postmarked by December 31 are eligible to win. Prizes will be awarded by February 28, 1989.

consolation and championship games will be played at 1 and 3 p.m. on Saturday.

The men's team tapped off with the Pioneers on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. They travel to American International College in Springfield, MA on Tuesday, Dec. 6. Following the game with the Yellow Jackets, UB will host the 13th annual Bankers' Classic at Harvey Hubbell Gymnasium on Friday and Saturday, Dec. 9 and 10.

Bridgeport with face Queens College at 8 p.m. following the Adelphi University vs. Mansfield University matchup at 6 p.m. The consolation and championship games will be played on Saturday, again at 6 and 8 p.m.

Women's Wrap Up (3-1, 0-0 NECC):

Next games: Fri. & Sat., Dec. 2 & 3, at Pittsburgh-Johnstown, Mount Cat Classic; Tues., Dec. 6 at American International College, 5:30 p.m.

UB vs. Concordia College

The women's basketball team opened 1988-89 the season with convincing 91-51 victory over Concordia College at Harvey Hubbell Gym.

Six UB players scored in double figures with Patty Costa pouring in a game-high 19 points. Freshman Michelle Jacobson and co-captain Paula Knuckles added 12 points apiece, Ellen Grosso and Aimee Solenberger canned 11 each and Julie Sergeant contributed 10 tallies.

Bridgeport built a 44-21 half-time lead and never looked back in the second stanza.

In other highlights, Grosso handed out a game-high 12 assists on the evening while Jacobson pulled in 13 rebounds.

UB vs. Stonehill College

Balanced scoring and tenacious defense paved the way to the Lady Purple Knights to an 89-65 showing over visiting Stonehill on Sunday, Nov. 20.

Sergeant teamed with Costa for a combined 57 points on the afternoon. Sergeant canned a game-high 32 points while Costa followed with 25.

Paula Knuckles and newcomer Diane Collins netted 13 and 10 points, respectively.

UB vs. Springfield College

The Lady Knights took their show on the road to Springfield, MA for a non-conference matchup with Springfield College. The court may have been different but the outcome remained the same as UB rolled to 73-58 victory over the Maroons.

Collins canned 14 of her game-high 24 points in the first half as UB took a 38-26 advantage into the lockerroom at intermission.

Springfield stuck with the Lady Purple Knights in the second half but could not make up the difference.

Knuckles added 15 points for the winners.

Collins, an Enfield, CT, native was also the game's leading rebounder as she pulled in 12 caroms.

UB vs. St. Anselm College

Bridgeport lost its first game of the season to St. Anselm College, 68-55 in Manchester, NH.

Senior center Julie Sergeant scored 19 points and grabbed seven rebounds in the loss.

Diane Collins and Patty Costa added 15 and 12 points, respectively for the 3-1 Lady Purple Knights.

Paula Knuckles pulled down a team-high nine rebounds.

Men's Wrap Up (3-1, 0-0 NECC):

UB vs. Concordia College

Bridgeport opened the 1988-89 season with its sixth highest point total in a 112-81 victory over visiting Concordia College at Harvey Hubbell Gymnasium on Nov. 18.

Senior Ed DeChent led all scorers with 22 points and freshman David Gavin added 20.

The Purple Knights moved out to a 52-32 half-time lead and was able to use their entire bench in the second half.

Freshman Steve Wills contributed 12 markers while Greg Murphy and Tokunbo Oke netted 11 points apiece.

Oke was also the game's leading rebounder with 10 caroms.

Junior co-captain Steve Ray dished out 12 assists on the night.

UB vs. Stonehill College

For the second straight game, the Purple Knight topped the 100-point mark with a 101-91 victory over visiting Stonehill College.

Bridgeport was led by freshman sensation Lambert Shell who canned a "career-high" 31 points and grabbed 11 caroms.

Greg Murphy and Ed DeChent combined for 48 more points, 26 and 22, respectively.

Steve Ray reset his own record of assists in a single game by dishing out 21 assists on the afternoon.

Joel Teague rejected seven Chief-tain shots and pulled in 10 rebounds for UB.

UB vs. Springfield College

Lambert Shell poured in 24 points as Bridgeport extended its winning streak to three games with a 73-66 victory over Springfield College on Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Shell was also the game's leading rebounder with 11.

Greg Murphy added nine points for the Purple Knights.

Ed DeChent, Joel Teague, David Gavin and Steve Ray contributed eight points apiece in the win.

UB vs. St. Anselm College

Bridgeport lost its first game of the season to St. Anselm College, 73-67 in Manchester, NH.

Senior forward Ed DeChent scored 24 points and grabbed nine rebounds (six offensive) in the loss.

Joel Teague pulled in a game-high 14 rebounds and blocked four shots.

The Purple Knights had a chance to overcome a 12-point deficit with 3:09 remaining in the game when DeChent hit two free throws to tie the game at 65. The game would deadlock again at 67 but Bridgeport would be able to collect two more point in the closing minutes as the Hawks picked up six free throws to the final.
